

SWINE (H1N1) FLU IS TREATABLE

THE TREATMENT FOR SWINE FLU IS AVAILABLE AT DESIGNATED HOSPITALS

A person with Swine (H1N1) Flu symptoms such as fever, cough, sore throat, running nose and difficulty in breathing, should go for a check-up.

Only suspected cases with severe conditions will be admitted to the hospital. If the patient is detected with H1N1 flu, but shows mild symptoms, he/she would be given the option of being treated at home. The patient needs to provide complete details of all social and family contacts for preventive treatment.

Patients opting for home care will be given a detailed information about safety measures that need to be strictly followed by the patient, caretaker and the entire household to ensure that the infection does not spread to others in the family.

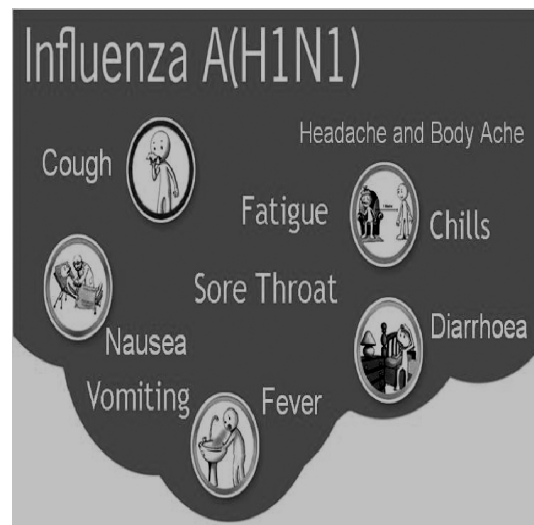

(These guidelines shall be reviewed from time to time depending on the situation of the spread of the disease).

In Meghalaya, the following INFLUENZA LIKE ILLNESS (ILI) CLINICS are being set up for people with influenza to report for check-up:
